in Chicago, and you find here at all elsewhere. But that arises from the fact that for instance, in 1890, 95 per cent of the people of St. Louis were so far advanced in the use of the automobile that there has not been so much room for improvement here as in Chicago.

"Then you anticipate a successful sale?"

"Certainly I do; the quality of the collection must be good. I do; shall be greatly disappointed if it should prove otherwise. I shall be glad to tell the readers of your paper that it would be a great advantage to them if they would bring their automobiles along with them to-morrow and Wednesday nights. They can then be able to examine the pictures, particularly the smaller ones, to so much better advantage than they could if they were to come to see them on a good day, no doubt, and the handsomest officer strolled away humming an air of 'My Barbary'

THE NORTON BENEFIT.

Preparations for an Active Demonstration of Sympathy.

A General Meeting of Mr. Norton's Friends Called at the Elks' Club this Evening.

Auction of Seats and Boxes to be Held—Details of the Arrangement as Far as Completed.

The very heavy personal loss sustained by Mr. John W. Norton, the manager of the burned Grand Opera House, has elicited the most active expressions of sympathy from his friends and the general public. There is perhaps no man in St. Louis who has more warm or devoted friends than John W. Norton; friends that he has earned by a long course of kindness and good fellowship; friends who have come about him now to do all that can be done to repair the loss that he has suffered. Before the debris of the theater had time to cool a meeting was held at the Elks' Club last night under the presidency of Dr. McKellops. The following papers were drawn up and signed:

The undersigned, deeply desiring the calamity sustained by John W. Norton, esq., by reason of the destruction of the Grand Opera House by fire on Sunday, November 25, herewith tender him a complimentary benefit, at a time and place to be hereafter determined upon.

Wm. L. Ewing, B. H. Engelke,

H. B. McCullagh,
 Henry W. Moore,
 H. J. McKellops,
 Jos. R. Harris,

 Chas. E. Waro.

On motion an executive committee was chosen, consisting of Mr. H. W. Moore, chairman; Mr. J. McCullagh, Mr. Wetherell, Mr. Engele and Mr. Clark. The committee will have the management of the benefit was put, with general instructions to make the affair a success.

A meeting has accordingly been called to come together at the Elks' Club at 8 p. m. to-day of all the members of the lodge and the committee, for making the benefit a unique success in the history of the drama in St. Louis. The Elks have kindly tendered the use of their rooms for the meeting, and all of Mr. Norton's friends are urged to be present. As the programme has taken shape, the benefit will probably be given on Wednesday evening of next

GENERAL SHERMAN WILL REPLY.

"Mr. Davis Will Get All He Wants in Due Time."

At the opening of the new hall of the Frank P. Blair Post a few weeks ago, General Sherman ad-pressed the gathering of old soldiers, and in the course of his remarks, took occasion to pay his respects to Jefferson Davis, which he did in such a vigorous way that Mr. Davis has repelled the charges there made in language equally forcible. Gen. Sherman referred to the late war and said that success was merely a conspiracy, and that Jeff. Davis was a conspirator whose aim was to use the confederacy as a fulcrum with which he could operate against the other sections of the country, "I have been behind the curtain," said Gen. Sherman, "and I have seen letters that few others have seen, and heard conversations that cannot be repeated. I have seen a letter from Jefferson Davis to a man whose name

I cannot mention because he is a United States Senator. I know Davis' writing, and saw his signature, and in that letter he said he would turn Lee's army against the Union."

SURE TO CATCH ON.

The Hanson Cab Line Favorably Received by the Public.

Change Members and Others Hoping They Will be Introduced—Some Points on Cheap Transportation in European Capitals—The Hanson in London.

The possibility of the city's transportation system being improved by the introduction of a number of Hanson cabs is being very generally discussed, and holds much promise for the future. A Post-Dispatch reporter, while on "Change this morning, heard the subject being canvassed by a number of the members, who were unanimously agreed that, in the event of the line of cabs being started, they would be only too glad to patronize them. Elsewhere in the course of his peregrinations he found that the prospect of the provision of speedy and comfortable transportation at low rates was a most favorable factor in the minds of the public. The fact that the problem lies only in the discovery of the enterprising citizen who will combine to form the company which will place the cabs on the streets. About the only objection that is made to the Hanson is the condition of some of the streets; but the Hanson is a reminder of the fact that a large majority of the persons who will be the patrons of the new line live in the most thoroughfares of the city, and that the Hanson is a reminder of the fact that the street reconstruction is being rapidly pushed, and that every succeeding year will see more additional roads of the most suitable for the locomotion of these popular and cheap cabs.

Among the gentlemen whom the Post-Dispatch reporter saw on the floor of the Exchange was Mr. J. M. E. Jones, a gentleman who has long enjoyed a reputation as one of the best-traveled men in the city, not only as regards the countries he has visited, but also the manner in which he has visited them. In the city of London, he has visited in Europe, notably in the larger capitals.

By means of one such cab, a use of the pleasant features. In some of the European capitals the Hanson is a very popular mode of transportation. In Berlin, for instance, I can ride a distance equal to a trip from the Exchange to the homes of many of its members for a sum equivalent to 10 cents of our money, and make the journey in a matter of minutes. The Hanson is scattered all over the city, and after one has ridden home, all he has to do is to get in his cab and go back to his home in the city. The Hanson is a very convenient mode of transportation, and it is a very good idea to have a Hanson in the city. The Hanson is a very convenient mode of transportation, and it is a very good idea to have a Hanson in the city.

Mr. Marcus A. Wolf, who has already expressed himself as strongly in favor of the Hanson, was seen on "Change. He said: "That article on the Hanson in the Post-Dispatch is a very good one. Everywhere. A large number of people have called me on the matter, and if I could start a Hanson in the city, I would be a very rich man. I don't think a company could be formed for people to care to go into it. Wait until the Hanson is a very good idea to have a Hanson in the city. The Hanson is a very convenient mode of transportation, and it is a very good idea to have a Hanson in the city.

Mr. Charles Green, an article on Hansons, and I believe that if they were introduced here, but since the date of that experiment a great change has happened here. The streets of the city are now a very different place. The Hanson is a very convenient mode of transportation, and it is a very good idea to have a Hanson in the city. The Hanson is a very convenient mode of transportation, and it is a very good idea to have a Hanson in the city.

SUING THE EXPOSITION.

Mr. Halsey Alleges that He Has not Been Paid in Full.

Edward Halsey filed a suit to-day against the St. Louis Exposition and Music Hall Association. He claims that on the 20th of December, 1894, the defendants agreed to pay him $38,970 to furnish all necessary material and labor for the construction and completion of the first and second tiers of floor joists with columns and girders supporting the same in the balcony and gallery of Music Hall, and also similar work in Entertainment Hall. He further claims to have performed all of his part of the contract and that there is still a balance due him of $170. For another cause of action he claims to have furnished on a special contract extra materials for the construction of the first tier of floor joists, for which he has not been paid. He therefore seeks to recover both of the above amounts.
